

About Tableau Write-Back

Write-Back was initially created as a free version prototype, built partially during the initial Tableau extension hackathons.

Based on the feedback gathered from corporate customers we decided to build from scratch this product with a different architecture and more corporate features.

Ever since then we have been improving the product with new releases and always taking into account customer feedback.

Xpand IT is a global consultancy company, including the area of expertise of Business Intelligence where we have the partnership with Tableau, and also has a product division that has released throughout the years successful products such as Xray and Xporter.
